Why choose Jai Suksar?

AT JAI SUKSAR, WE ARE DEDICATED TO PROVIDING EDUCATIONAL CONSULTANCY SERVICES OF THE HIGHEST QUALITY AND PROFESSIONAL TUTORING THAT INSPIRE ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE AND PERSONAL GROWTH. WE PRIORITISE STUDENT SUCCESS AND STRIVE TO CREATE A SUPPORTIVE LEARNING ENVIRONMENT.

As a new, friendly, and cost-effective service we aim to cater to all individuals who want help with their university applications regardless of background. We aim to ensure the same quality as well-established consultancies of a similar nature and surpass expectations when someone works with us.

Dr Casey is a application specialist having worked at a leading international school for four years as a university counsellor. He himself is Oxbridge educated and is aware of the demands required of someone aiming to gain entry to top universities around the world. He has helped on applications for students aiming for the G5 within the UK, the Ivy League within the USA, and universities further afield in Hong Kong, Australia, and Ireland to name a few.

He has run conferences for parents, teachers, and educational agents in countries such as China on how to ensure students excel in their academic portfolios and gain the right application advice for universities around the world. Dr Casey has numerous reviews from past students from guiding their professional development and aiding their academic journeys, showcasing his friendly and effective approach to securing the right selection of choices with a number of students from different backgrounds.

Working alongside an alliance of businesses, within Globalised Education Network (GEN), ensures a wider body of experts which can be drawn upon when required – whether subject specific tutoring is required or specialist admissions and interview preparation mentors for university applications to enhance a student's academic portfolio.

Why undertake university consultancy?

The university landscape is constantly evolving. Admissions tests come and go. International competitiveness increases. Certain courses, particularly in the UK, have quotas for international students (i.e. medicine). One thing is certain – the university application process for both home and international students at countries across the globe remains competitive.

02

More students are applying to Higher Education than ever before. Take the UK as an example: the number of international students applying to undergraduate courses at UK universities has risen for a second year running. New data shows 115,730 students from outside the UK applied to start in September 2024, up from 114,910 last year (Shearing, 2024). The number of 18-year olds in the UK is estimated to increase by 24 percent between 2020 and 2030. This demographic boom will fuel increasing demand for higher education (Buscha and Dickson, 2022).

With a university consultant to guide you, the hassle of staying updated with the latest developments or knowing the ins and outs of applying is taken away from you. With our experience, a range of examples, and knowledge we can help to try and make your application as strategic and competitive as possible for leading universities around the world to give you the best chance of success.

Consulting is not a science, and is not always a guarantee you will be able to enter a university you would like to. Rather it is advice which aims to guide and help you, providing a competitive edge compared to others who may not have had such advice, which offers a higher chance of success.

ABOUT US

Dr Dan Casey has worked with students as a University Guidance counsellor for over 4 years. He has notable experience with applications to universities across the world, offering guidance and crafting advice for students in a diverse range of subject areas to achieve their goals.

Working for 4 years at a leading international school, he has aided students achieve entry to Oxbridge, G5 universities, US universities such as Chicago, HKU and CUHK, and Australian universities amongst others. His approach is personal, professional and friendly, with advice for Supercurricular enhancement opportunities offered before application, through to how application systems work, university shortlist advise, and personal statement guidance. His work as an Academic Strategy Tutor intervened where students needed additional support to ensure they also received help to achieve the results they needed.

Prior to teaching Dr Casey also had experience working with organisations such as InGenius Prep as a Guidance Counsellor, working alongside students monthly and on their applications to ensure success to their desired universities. Most recently his student from Singapore who he had worked with for 4 years secured an offer to study Geography at the University of Oxford.

Dr Casey himself was Oxbridge educated in Geography at the University of Cambridge. Following this he completed a masters degree in Environmental Change and International Development and a PhD at the University of Sheffield, a Russell Group university. He continues to develop professionally, having obtained an International Postgraduate Certificate of Education (iPGCE) during the 2022 to 2023 academic year and keeps abreast of the latest developments in careers and the university application landscape.

Having a keen interest in travel and having visited 33% of countries around the world, Dr Casey has a wealth of experience both teaching and also helping support applications for international students around the world.

MR TUA ENKGASANMANEE

Mr Tua Engkasanmanee is a Thai native, able to converse in Thai, English and to an intermediate level in Mandarin. He achieved a grade A* in A Level Maths and holds further A Levels in Further Maths, Economics, and Physics whilst now studying Economics at Bath. To further his professional development Mr Engkasanmanee is completing a Level 3 Distance Learning Tutoring Diploma. In the course he will have covered educational theories and practice, as well as some of the latest cutting edge digital teaching strategies.

Being an international student currently at university Mr Engkasanmanee is well versed in the latest requirements for international university applications, and knows the expectations and requirements of a range of students. He is able to offer first hand advice and tips on what being at university is currently like as well as his own application journey – something several other consultancies cannot offer. Being from Thailand he understands the cultural expectations and dynamics of students from a similar background applying to university. He assists Dr Casey and is currently learning about the university consultancy field.
